TWO FOUND DEAD IN IDAHO HOTEL

Men Believed to Be Victims of Drug Administered in Whisky.

Special to The Tribune.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 9.—Killed by a drug believed to be cocaine administered either through ignorance or with intent to murder, Tom Brown of Caldwell and Fred Wallace, nicknamed "Kit Carson," of Salem, Mo., were discovered at noon today in the Starling rooming house, located in the center of the downtown business district. William Sweeney and "Bill" Stacy are held by the police pending an investigation. No charge has been placed against them. Sweeney slept in the same room with the drugmen and upon failing to awake them after he had roused from a drunken sleep gave the alarm.

The four men entered the Starling at 1 o'clock this morning and asked for a room. They had been drinking, and Stacy, it is said, appeared to be in a quarrelsome mood. He became so disorderly he was ordered from the place and was later arrested on the streets and locked up on a charge of intoxication.

Brown and Wallace were seen to drink from a quart whisky bottle. This is believed to have contained the drug. The bottle, with part of the contents, is now in the hands of the state chemist.

Wallace and Brown, partly dressed, occupied one bed, Wallace under the covers and Brown lying across Wallace's body. Sweeney and Stacy occupied the second bed under the same covers. When Brown and Wallace were discovered they had been dead for hours. Sweeney and Stacy cannot tell an intelligent story. Both are still under the influence of liquor or drug. Brown, Wallace and Sweeney had been engaged in construction work in western Idaho for some years. Wallace was the owner of a construction outfit.

The whisky bottle discovered in the room bore the stamped name of Frank Nelson, a local saloonkeeper.

"TURKEY TROT" UNDER BAN.

Davis County Commissioners Enact Ordinance to Prohibit Improper Dancing.

Special to The Tribune.

FARMINGTON, Dec. 9.—The dancing of ragtime dances in any and every form in public or private dancing halls or dancing academies in Davis county is prohibited in an ordinance passed by the county commissioners at the regular session yesterday.

Several of the kinds of dances against which the law is directed particularly are mentioned in the ordinance, among them being the "turkey trot" and the "moonlight dance."

The passing of the ordinance was preceded by a meeting of social workers with the county commissioners. Most of the towns and cities of the county were represented at the meeting, and a resolution was passed asking the commissioners to take the action. Some of those present asserted that the morals of the young people of the county were being degraded by the exhibitions permitted at some of the public halls, where it is a custom to turn out the lights occasionally while the dance proceeds. In the "moonlight" to the strains of ragtime music.

The provisions of the new law apply only in the county outside of the cities, but inasmuch as Bountiful already has passed a like ordinance, it is believed that Rayville and Farmington will fall in line, thus placing all of Davis county on the same basis of control of dances.

DEATHS SHOCK CITY.

Several Funerals of Well-known People Held in Last Two Days.

Special to The Tribune.

POCAHELLO, Dec. 9.—Several deaths of prominent citizens have saddened the community the last few days. The funeral of Mrs. J. D. Rayle, who died Sunday, was held this morning from the family home. A great number of friends attended. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The disinterment in the O. S. L. office having prepared the most elaborate.

Mrs. Annie Bushley, aged 55, died last night at the general hospital, after a short illness, and whose body was shipped to Mackay yesterday, was buried at that place today.

The funeral of Walter Self, dispatcher of the O. S. L., who died at Havre, Mont., was buried here yesterday afternoon. The Masons were in charge of the ceremonies.

NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH.

Man and Woman in Buggy Hit by O. S. L. Freight Train.

Special to The Tribune.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Dec. 9.—Mrs. W. E. Miller of Buhl was seriously injured and Kenneth Lowry, 16, also of Buhl, was fatally hurt when the wagon in which they were riding was hit by a freight train on the Oregon Short line three miles east of Buhl, late this afternoon. The road over which Mrs. Miller and Lowry were traveling was patrolled by the train, which was passing the railroad tracks and reached it at about 10 o'clock. The wagon was driving, did not hear the approach of the train.

The horses barely escaped being killed, as they had just crossed the tracks. The wagon was not hit squarely. The force of the impact, however, reduced it to splinters and the passengers were hurled many feet from the tracks. The injured persons were carried to the train, which returned with all possible speed to Buhl. The caboose was coupled to an engine at Buhl and Mrs. Miller and Lowry were rushed to Salt Lake. Mrs. Miller, whose home is in Boise, was going for a visit to the Lowry home, a few miles from Buhl.

WILL TEST LAW.

Idaho Legislature's Action Concerning Druggists Subject of Controversy.

Special to The Tribune.

CALDWELL, Idaho, Dec. 9.—Suit was filed here today with the purpose of testing a law passed by the last legislature requiring a $500 bond from druggists who sell or fill prescriptions containing alcohol.

The case is that of the state of Idaho against Jacob Furch, and is brought to recover $500 for an alleged violation of the law in selling liquors without first complying with this section of the law. The druggist maintains that quite a large proportion of the doctors' prescriptions contain alcohol in sufficient quantities to render them amenable to the state revenue laws.

Automobile Burned Up.

Special to The Tribune.

BRIGHAM CITY, Dec. 9.—A. E. Truelson of the Brigham City garage went down to South Willard today for the purpose of towing in an automobile belonging to the Phoenix Construction company, which maintains offices in this city. Yesterday afternoon, while four members of the construction company were working on the car, a large machine, a Ford touring car, caught fire and was completely demolished by the flames. It appears that the driver of the car stopped to help a stranded auto party by sharing his gasoline, and in drawing the gasoline from the tank on his car the gasoline became ignited, evidently through defective sparking apparatus, and the machine was soon a mass of flames. Mr. Truelson found the machine so badly damaged that it was not worth bringing back. The trip was resumed later in the large car of the company.

Mr. Francis G. Luke, Manager.

Dear Sir—I desire to extend to you personally and your association my thanks for your work in collecting $5019.50 for the estate for which I was the administrator. Being a man of experience in the business myself, and after two years of hard work on this note and failing to even collect the interest due, I, after careful investigation, decided to turn this account over to you. The manager in which this account was handled, both in respect to collection and prompt payment, by your association to me is deserving of special mention.
Yours very truly,
E. KEMPER, Administrator.

This ought to encourage you. We collect for everybody everywhere. Turn in your claims and we will collect some money for you. There are many who say they collect, and all collectors are good people, but here's the evidence of what we do: We published a nice letter last week from Harmond O. Shepherd, the Magazine Man, on State street, telling how we collected $400 for him from a couple of Denver lawyers. We are doing this kind of work all the time. We began learning this business over 20 years ago. We are still learning. Most collectors graduate in a year or two. We have no hope of learning it all. The business is a science, as much so as any profession or calling could be. Turn in your claims now and we will collect some money for you for Christmas.
